Volunteers Needed!!

We are looking for people who would be interested in working with kids ages 12-15 and would like to be mentors. The Junior Youth Spiritual Empowerment Program has been created to help kids from the ages of 12-15 develop their powers of expression, and critical thinking skills. This age group is transitioning from childhood to adulthood and, therefore, requires special attention. They are easily guided in a positive direction as they are agents of social change, are eager to learn, and possess qualities of altruism. We are looking for people who would be interested in starting Junior Youth Groups and being the guides/mentors of these groups. The four main components of the program are arts, sports, the curriculum, and community service. There is a training offered. Please contact Glenda Mejia if you are interested or have questions. Cell: 323 915 7053 or email glenmeji10@gmail.com

Maintaining Balance in the New Year

Welcome MSMC to a new year! A new school year always makes me think new goals and a fresh start from the previous year. However, with all these lofty goals one quickly loses site of all the important things in their life and can get easily overwhelmed. That's why this week's tips are about maintaining balance in life.

School/Work - Prioritize. Among assignments that must be done first, pick the one that motivates you the most. Once you get going, working on other assignments is often easier.

Fun - Make time for fun. When you start to feel frustrated and drained, take time out to treat yourself to a movie, spend time with friends, or take a walk. This will boost your energy and better your mood, overall helping you stay motivated.

Health - Take care of yourself. Make sure to get enough sleep, exercise, and eat healthily. This will provide you with an energy boost and a buffer against stress and sickness.

*If you would like to speak more about tips regarding finding balance, or have anything else you would like to speak about, contact a counselor at CPS. Remember, OUR services are always FREE and CONFIDENTIAL

Feeling Homesick?

Feeling homesick is a natural feeling, no matter how old you are. Adjusting to a new campus, school year, roommate, expectations, courses, and routine takes time and patience. If you're struggling to beat the blues, here are ten homesickness helpers to pick you up.

Admit that you have it. Much of what you know and can rely on is back at home and homesickness is a natural response to this sense of loss.

Talk about it with family or friends who have also gone away from home. In this way you can recognize that this is a common occurrence which will help normalize the experience.

Bring familiar items from home to your new location. Photos, plants, even stuffed animals help to give one a sense of continuity and ease the shock of a new environment.

Familiarize yourself with your new surroundings.

Walk around. You will feel more in control if you know where buildings, classes, and services are.

Invite people along to explore. Making friends is a big step to alleviating homesickness.

Seek new opportunities.

As scary as it is to see all those people, all those classes, all those activities, all those choices, they will provide opportunities to meet people who like what you like.

Plan a date to go home and make arrangements. This often helps curtail impulsive returns and keeps you focused on your goals in staying.

Examine your expectations.

We'd all like to be popular, well-dressed, well-organized and well-adjusted, which we are not much of the time! Setting a goal of perfection is the most predictable way of creating trouble for yourself. Laugh at your mistakes. We are always learning!!

Do something. Don't wait for it to go away by itself. Buried problems often emerge later disguised as headaches, fatigue, illness, or lack of motivation.

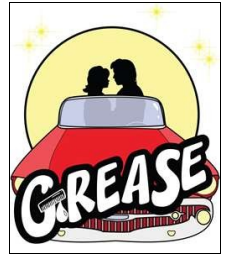

10. Talk to a counselor. Speaking to someone is sometimes helpful and can be a great place to vent and problem solve. CPS's service is free and confidential.

PART TIME FABULOUS (PTF) is an expose on what it's really like living with Clinical Depression. PTF weaves its story of love, pain, and healing by revealing real-life stories of depression with a modern love story. The film follows Mel, (Jules Bruff), a young woman who suddenly falls in love with a man, Don (Bjorn Johnson), while on vacation. So taken with each other, he moves in with her twelve days later. It's not until then that her deep-rooted and untreated Clinical Depression reveals itself. Her inability to deal with her illness pushes a wedge between them and ultimately breaks them apart. Mel is forced to finally face her disease alone. In the quest to heal herself, she sets out to make a documentary that exposes her truth, and the heartfelt truth of others dealing with Clinical Depression.

Halloween is just around the corner.

Our Annual Halloween Haunted Campus at Doheny is just around the corner.

Every year, Mount St. Mary's College, Doheny Campus, opens its gates to provide a safe and fun environment for the neighboring children and their families to spend Halloween night. Last year, we had over 18,000 pounds of candy handed out in 2 hours to 10,000 children and families in the nearby community. This year, we need 20,000 pounds of candy!

We're asking you to help us treat our neighborhood children by bringing in wrapped candy and dropping your candy into Halloween decorated boxes around campus.

We ask that you be as generous as your hearts will allow so that we can meet our goal of 20,000 pounds of candy.

20,000 pounds? Not impossible. WE CAN DO IT!

For additional information, please contact Maria Lyons in Building 7 or at (213)477-2670.

Halloween is just around the corner.

Our Annual Halloween Haunted Campus will be Monday, October 31. Dress up! Bring over the princesses and pirates to join our Haunted Campus.

Every year, Mount St. Mary's College, Doheny Campus, opens its gates to provide a safe and fun environment for the neighboring children and their families to spend Halloween night. Last year, we had over 18,000 pounds of candy handed out in 2 hours to 10,000 children and families in the nearby community. This year, we need 20,000 pounds of candy!

We're asking you to help us treat our neighborhood children by bringing in wrapped candy and dropping your candy into decorated Halloween boxes around campus.

We ask that you be as generous as your hearts will allow so that we can meet our goal of 20,000 pounds of candy. Thank you to those who are on top of things and have already contributed.

20,000 pounds? Not impossible. WE CAN DO IT!

For additional information, please contact Maria Lyons in Building 7 or at (213)477-2670.

This Week with Campus Ministry

Month of Remembrance

In the month of November, we remember in prayer the members of the Mount community who have died: our staff, faculty, Sisters, students, alums, friends and family members. We invite you to share the names of your loved ones who have died during the period of Novembarn2010 through November 2011; we will then post their names in our campus chapels.

We will also remember them in a special Mass of Remembrance on Tuesday, Nov. 15, at 1:00m in Mary Chapel on the Chalon campus, and on Wednesday, Nov. 16, at 4:45 in Mercy Chapel on the Doheny campus. You are especially invited to take part in these Masses, to pray for your loved ones, and pray for others in the MSMC community who have lost loved ones.

Send us the names at this web page:

Do I respect my body?

We often feel great pressure to work toward a certain body shape, size and appearance to achieve happiness, success, and acceptance by others. This can often make us feel ashamed and dissatisfied about how we look. Here are some tips to help you build the body confidence you deserve!

Make a pact with yourself to treat your body with respect and do things to promote positive body image.

Give yourself a break from fashion magazines and the mass media.

Stop weighing yourself.

Change your goal from weight loss to improving your health.

Exercise: Feeling healthy and strong is a great way to feel good about yourself.

Focus on having fun, rather than losing weight.

Focus on your positives: Find a part of your body you really like and accentuate it.

Find someone to talk to: If you are feeling badly about your body, think about to whom you could talk to make you feel better.

Keep things in perspective: If friends or family criticize what you look like, remember they aren't perfect either. They may be commenting about you because they are either insecure about themselves or too wrapped up in traditional notions of gender appearance.

Do you spend a lot of time worrying about your weight or appearance?

If so, let us support you! Make an appointment at CPS.

Shopping? Think FAIR TRADE
Check out the link here for website suggestions

What is Fair Trade?

Fair Trade is a growing, international movement which ensures that producers in poor countries get a fair deal. This means a fair price for their goods (one that covers the cost of production and guarantees a living income), long-term contracts which provide real security; and for many, support to gain the knowledge and skills that they need to develop their businesses and increase sales.

Happy New Year!

On behalf of Doheny ASB and myself, I would like to welcome you back from winter break. I hope you had a great and restful break and that you are ready for the semester ahead. ASB has many exciting activities and involvement opportunities planned for this semester! In March, we have the privilege of hosting the inauguration of President Ann McElaney- Johnson here at Doheny Campus and our Annual Inspiration Dinner in the Doheny Mansion, to name a few! I cannot wait to see what this semester has in store for all of us. It is nice to see all of you again.

Have a great first week!

BUS 93

Investing for your Future

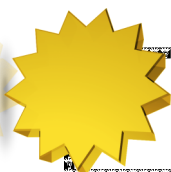

What is the DJIA? How do people make money in the stock market? Will I become an investor, one day?

These are important questions for your financial future. And we answer them in Bus 093 – Investing for Your Future, a one unit elective that meets Tuesdays from 1:00 – 2:00 spring term.

We'll learn about the stock market using lots of interesting web sites. We'll learn the lingo and methods of successful investors. And we'll have fun playing our stock market game and invest thousands of dollars (not literally) in your favorite American companies. Each week, we'll monitor the New York Stock Exchange and see how our selections are doing!

So bring your add/drop form to sign up in room 4-211 at 1:00 pm on Tuesday. You'll be glad you did!

HAPPY NEW YEAR!!

A New Year! A New Semester! A New You! The New Year is a time to look back and also to look ahead. Take some time to evaluate how things went last semester. What went well? What would you like to change? Then think about how you can make those changes happen. Set some specific goals for your academic, social, and personal life. Here are some suggestions to help you have a successful Spring semester.

- ❖ Write down the reasons that keep you motivated to stay in college. Keeping these motivators posted around your room is a good reminder to keep yourself to your goals.
- ❖ Find ways to relate what you learn in class to your current life or future career. You will better appreciate the meaning and/or usefulness of your coursework.
- ❖ Reach out to professors, mentors, friends or family members. They can help you stay on track and provide guidance and motivation.
- ❖ Reward yourself when you finish an assignment/task. Stop and acknowledge what you have accomplished before focusing on what else you have to do. Your schoolwork will become linked with feeling good about yourself.
- ❖ If you find yourself procrastinating, consult with a counselor. You hold the key to maintaining your motivation. Fuel it!

A Message from the Business Office

January 2012

Do you know if you have financial clearance on your tuition account?

The Financial Clearance Deadline to clear the balance on your tuition account was December 14, 2011. Financial clearance on your account means payment in full of your tuition account, that includes your financial aid awards applied and or enrollment in a payment plan, by the Financial Clearance Deadline.

Tuition balances and recent transactions are available for viewing on your CASHNet account, where you may also sign up for a payment plan. Please visit the Mount's web portal to access your CASHNet account by clicking on "Finances" and "Make a Payment/My Account". If you have not done so already, please clear your account to avoid additional late fees.

Have you submitted your insurance waiver yet?

Health insurance waivers need to be completed every semester – if you have not completed your insurance waiver, please do so as soon as possible. The Mount's policy requires all full time students and ADN students enrolled in 7 units or more, to be insured. The cost of the Mount's Health plan for the Spring 2012 semester is $860.00, this amount has been billed to your MSMC Student Account.

The health insurance charge will remain on your account unless you opt out of the Mount's coverage by filing an insurance waiver and providing proof of your personal health coverage via the waiver site located on the Mount's website.

Please visit the Business Office website located under "Finance" to waive coverage or opt out. If after the waiver period has ended, and you did not opt out coverage, you will be automatically enrolled in the Mount's health plan and the insurance charge will remain on your account.

Please contact the Business Office for more information. We look forward to assisting you this semester.
Thank you –

Powerful Winds Brought Destruction

Last month, Los Angeles experienced very powerful winds. This picture was taken on Friday, December 2, after high velocity winds blew through Los Angeles. Those winds brought down the Linden tree which was over 100 years old. It was home to a flock of wild parakeets which made a lot of noise for those in the west side classrooms of Bldg 4. The tree hit the statue of St. Joseph and took off its head. The statue will be repaired. The tree was left on the ground for over a week because it would take at least 4 hours to cut it up and clear it out. The College didn't want to do this very noisy job during finals week.

The Truth about Therapy We know you've heard the myths, but what is therapy really about?

- * Anyone can benefit from therapy; wise people seek it out with confidence. Life can be hard, and therapy can provide you with the tools to handle difficulties in a more positive, constructive, and thoughtful manner.
- * Therapy can help you set your own course, and give you the tools to make thoughtful choices in the areas you want to change. It allows you to see what you really value about yourself.
- * Therapy is completely confidential. It is your choice to let people know if you are in therapy or not. And, most people will not think negatively of you for seeking help.
- * A therapist can help you find ways to improve your relationships with your family members and to feel more confident about how you interact within your family.
- * For many clients, therapy is a very spiritual experience and one's faith is often deepened in the process of learning about oneself.
- * Therapy happens by talking face-to-face, sitting up-right.
- * Often, successful therapy involves understanding how your childhood may have contributed to the problems you are currently experiencing. However, therapy which gets stuck in the past and never moves to resolving the problems in the present is not successful. Successful therapy helps you use your life experiences and expand on the skills you already have to improve your future.
- * It is an act of strength to seek help. Come see us if you want to give therapy a try!

Spring Semester Stress Buster

Spring semester can be a time of transition and stress with adjustment to new classes, new work and school schedules to coordinate, and new teachers. Here are some tips to keep your stress down during this time of transition.

Start organizing early – Buy a planner and write down important dates, tests, and deadlines.

Remember to breathe - When facing a hurdle, give yourself a minute and take a deep breath, which will help you more effectively problem solve.

Schedule down time – Taking care of yourself and allowing for some down time will help keep stress levels down and allow you to better focus on school and work.

Be open to asking for help – If you are feeling overwhelmed, remember that there are resources available on campus to help you, including CPS. It shows a great deal of strength when you are able to ask for help.

If you would like to speak more about tips regarding stress management during transitions, or have anything else you would like to speak about, contact a counselor at CPS. Remember, our services are FREE and CONFIDENTIAL!

Back From Disaster

Exhibit in Coe Library Reading Room
January - February, 2012

Over Christmas Break in 2010, Los Angeles experienced torrential rains. In the Chalon Campus library, the rain caused a huge leak in the worst possible place: the Archives room, where the College stores its precious rare books and papers. Recovering from the flood took nearly a year and involved people in the Library, Facilities Department and Administration & Finance. Help us celebrate the return of the newly restored books and upgrades to the Coe Library building with an exhibit in the Reading Room. Come see the "before" pictures and the "after" books, and take a look at some of the Mount libraries' beautiful treasures from among our historic Bibles and Doheny Family collections.

A Valuable one-unit class in Fall 2012
Bus 93 Personal Finance

What do you suppose is more important?

1. Is it to know how Personal Finance works, describing things like insurance, taxes, budgeting, investing, and identity theft?
2. Or is it to know why it's important to learn about these things now, before costly mistakes are made?

That's not an easy question, but it's one we don't have to answer. That's because we do both in Personal Finance-Bus 093.

Personal Finance is a one-unit course that prepares you for the decisions you'll face when you graduate and begin your chosen career. The Doheny course meets for the fall term on Thursdays from 1:00 – 2:00.

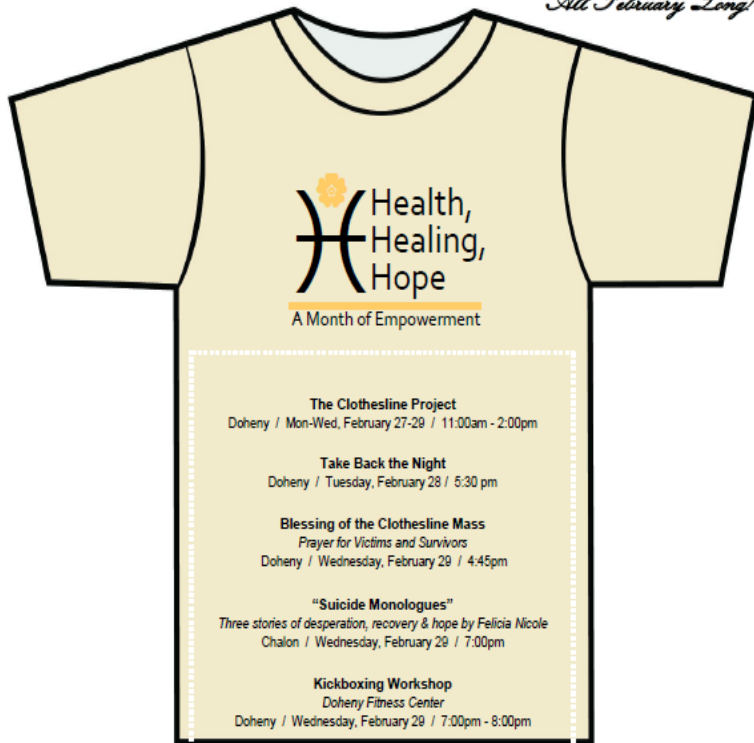

So sign up when you register for your fall courses. You can bring a friend and learn together.

You'll be glad you did.

ASSERTIVENESS QUIZ!!!

Answer the questions below honestly. They will help you gain some insights about your current level of assertiveness.

Assign a number to each item using this scale:

Always 5 4 3 2 1 Never

_____	I ask others to do things without feeling guilty or anxious.
_____	When someone asks me to do something I don't want to do, I say "no" without feeling guilty or anxious.
_____	I am comfortable when speaking to a large group of people.
_____	I confidently express my honest opinions to authority figures.
_____	When I experience powerful feelings (anger, frustration, disappointment, etc.), I verbalize them easily.
_____	When I express anger, I do so without blaming others for "making me mad."
_____	I am comfortable speaking up in a group situation.
_____	If I disagree with the majority opinion in a meeting, I can "stick to my guns" without feeling uncomfortable or being abrasive.
_____	When I make a mistake, I acknowledge it.
_____	I can tell others when their behavior creates a problem for me.
_____	Meeting new people in social situations is something I do with ease and comfort.
_____	When discussing my beliefs, I do so without labeling the opinions of others as "crazy," "stupid," "ridiculous," or irrational."
_____	I assume that most people are competent and trustworthy and do not have difficulty delegating tasks to others.
_____	When considering doing something I have never done, I feel confident I can learn to do it.
_____	I believe my needs are as important as those of others and I am entitled to have my needs satisfied
_____	Total Score

HOW ASSERTIVE ARE YOU?

If your total is 60 or higher, you have a consistently assertive philosophy and probably handle most situations well.

If your total is 45-60, you have a fairly assertive outlook. There are some situations in which you may be naturally assertive, but you should be able to increase your assertiveness through practice.

If your total is 30-45, you seem to be assertive in some situations but your natural response is either nonassertive or aggressive. You may want to change some perceptions and practice new behaviors in order to handle things much more assertively in the future.

If your total is 15-30, you have considerable difficulty being assertive. You need to practice and allow yourself time to grow and change. You can become much more comfortable in situations where asserting yourself is important.

This exercise was copied from "Developing Positive Assertiveness - Practical Techniques for Personal Success," by Sam R. Lloyd.

If you are having trouble asserting yourself in relationships or with conflict in general, please feel free to contact a counselor at CPS. Remember, our services are always FREE and CONFIDENTIAL!

Self-Esteem Basics

Our basic core needs have to be fulfilled in order to feel physically and emotionally healthy. Being clear about what you need and making efforts to meet those needs constructively means you'll naturally have better self esteem.

This is useful list of basic human needs:

The need to give to and receive from others attention and recognition

The need to look after your body

The need for meaning, purpose and goals

The need for a connection to something greater than ourselves

The need for creativity and stimulation

The need for intimacy and connection to others

The need for a sense of control

The need for a sense of safety and security

So try to build on your solid foundation and to foster any and all your basic needs in one way or another!

Got Procrastination?

Midterms are over. But finals are just around the corner. Taking time to relax is important, but be careful of falling into the pattern of procrastination. Procrastination is a fairly common behavior for college students. Interestingly, procrastination is only remotely related to time management, (procrastinators often know exactly what they should be doing, even if they cannot do it), which is why very detailed schedules usually are no help. Here are some tips to help you avoid falling prey to procrastination:

Stay current with homework and readings.

If you are too far behind when finals hit then your stress will be greater.

Use your calendar to keep track of assignments.

Make tasks look small and easy ("I've done lots of papers before; this is just one more.")

Try the five-minute plan: Work on something for just five minutes. At the end of five minutes, switch to something else if you want. Chances are, you'll get involved enough to keep going.

Use your friends. Find the friends who are consistent studiers and make them role models. Advertise your plans to study so your friends can provide peer pressure to encourage you to finish your work. And finally, schedule time to relax and socialize after you have completed some of your task.

Crunch Time!!!

End of the college year can be stressful with so many responsibilities. Finals are just around the corner and may be starting to take a toll on your energy. What can you do? The next time you notice feeling tired and drained, try some of the following ways to relax and regroup.

Do something you love. Taking on an activity you enjoy such as drawing, going dancing, or walking at a park can help you relax both emotionally and physically.

Listen to music. Listening to relaxing and uplifting music can help soothe you when you feel stressed and tense.

Take a hot shower. Give yourself half an hour in a day to take a long hot shower or bath and unwind.

Find thirty minutes of 'alone time' in a day. Meditate, write in a journal, or do yoga.

Most importantly, communicate. Talk to people you trust like a friend, roommate or a family member about thoughts and feelings that may be weighing you down.

Although these ideas won't reduce your workload, they will certainly give you a chance to de-stress and re-energize.

To find out more information on relaxation contact CPS- Counseling & Psychological Services (213) 477-2668. Counseling is FREE and Confidential.

ENOUGH IS ENOUGH

Be Safe.
Make the Campus Safe for Others

Everyday across college and university campuses, someone is effected by violence. Whether violence is directed at them personally or they know someone who has been a victim of violence, we all know someone trying to cope with the effects of violence.

Enough is Enough. Mount St. Mary's College is committed to the idea of ending violence. I invite you to read the following quote and think how you can put an end to violence.

"The Enough is Enough Campaign began as one person's vision. However, stemming societal violence is not the work of one organization. It is not enough for one campus or one community to take action, for we are all responsible. This is not a work for the lone hero – we need every possible touch point for students to be involved, whether peers, mentors, parents, teachers, spiritual leaders, counselors, trusted adult figures, or community partners. It will take all of us together – our collective resilient spirit demanding that enough is enough." – Gwen Dungy, NASPA Executive Director

Mike McFatridge, Campus Security.

Are you practicing self nurturing?

The key to healthy self-esteem is to begin to treat yourself as a worthwhile person. Start to challenge past negative experiences or messages by nurturing and caring for yourself in ways that show that you are valuable, competent, deserving and lovable. There are several components to self-nurturing

Get enough sleep, eat in a healthy, exercise regularly, and practice good hygiene.

Plan Fun & Relaxing Things for Yourself: You could go to a movie, take a nap, get a massage, plant a garden, read, or learn to meditate-whatever you enjoy.

Reward Yourself for Your Accomplishments: You could take the night off to celebrate good grades, spend time with a friend, or compliment yourself.

Remind Yourself of Your Strengths & Achievements: One way is to make a list of things you like about yourself. Or, keep a 'success' file of awards, certificates and positive letters or citations. Keep mementos of accomplishments you are proud of where you can see them.

Forgive Yourself When You Don't Do All You'd Hoped: Self-nurturing can be surprisingly hard if you are not used to doing it. Don't be critical of yourself-remember that inner voice!-when you don't do it just right.

Self-Nurture Even When You Don't Feel You Deserve It: "Fake it" until you can "make it." When you treat yourself like you deserve to feel good and be nurtured, slowly you'll come to believe it.

Get Help from Others: Getting help from others is often the most important step a person can take to improve his or her self-esteem, but it can also be the most difficult. People with low self-esteem often don't ask for help because they feel they don't deserve it. But since low self-esteem is often caused by how other people treated you in the past, you may need the help of other people in the present to challenge the critical messages that come from negative past experiences.

Students who will be returning for the Fall 2012 semester – the Financial Clearance Deadline is the 2nd Wednesday in June – June 13, 2012. Your student tuition account must be cleared by June 13, 2012, otherwise we will assess a $100 late clearance fee to your Student Account.
